Volume 2: Relationships Niche Dominator

Relational Newsletters

Subscribe to at least fifteen relationship newsletters in this list. Read the articles and get a feel for what kind of content the webmaster likes to include.

Write one article that you feel pertains to the subjects of your favorite newsletter. Have someone check it for spelling and readability. It must have great content. If you are not a relationship expert yourself, then interview a local expert and write the article based on that information.

You do not want to set yourself up as a substandard writer to these webmasters. Only submit articles of similar length as the ones in their newsletters.

Once you are confident that your article is top notch and you have included your resource box, then email it to the webmaster. You can find the contact info on the site, or respond to one of the newsletters sent to you.

Tell the publisher what specifically you like about their newsletter, and then say that you've written an article for them to consider for publication. Ask for a reply if they're interested in using the article.

Tell them that they are the first newsletter you sent the article to, because they're your favorite. You don't mind for the article to be sent out exclusively by the newsletter.

Await your reply.

Depending on the reply you receive, either try another favorite newsletter (if the submission was declined) or write another article for a second newsletter (in case you were accepted for publication).

Sometimes webmasters will say that they like your article, but can't publish for two months. That's fine. Just tell them thanks, and you await the big day when you see your article in their newsletter.

Having your article and resource box included in a newsletter will direct super targeted traffic to your site.

List of Ezines to Submit Articles to

Here are some ezines that you may choose to send your articles to. Work on developing a relationship with the publisher – don't just send dozens of articles to them. Think of how you'd want to be treated, and proceed likewise. You only have one chance to show you're genuine with these folks.
